

Sinfonians Participate in Effort to Refurnish the Harris Music Building

The Harris Music Building was renovated this Summer with Title III funds. New subfloors were placed under the entire structure, walls were repaired, new plumbing was installed, and a projection and stereo system was added to the classroom. The students volunteered to assist in bringing back the equipment, as well as refreshing chairs, filing cabinets, and designing the look for furnishings. Phi Mu Alpha was in the lead with almost all music students participating in some way or another.
